The Möller Organ

The Möller Organ in Juniata's Oller Hall has been a source of pride and inspiration for the Juniata College community, and a part of the Juniata tradition for over 40 years. Its restoration last spring has given alumni the opportunity to reflect on the role the organ played in their lives. More about the Möller Organ on page two.

History Preserved In Rare Books

By MIKE McCOMRICK '83

The rare book collection, located in the Treasure Room on the second floor of Beeghly Library, preserves over 10,000 early Pennsylvania German imprints for those interested in Pennsylvania history.

Director of Libraries David H. Eyman said, "There are a few books on Pennsylvania history of which we apparently have the only known copies." Most of the early printing done in the state has been lost or damaged.

Eyman emphasized that preservation of these materials is an important aspect of the collection. The Treasure Room serves this purpose by maintaining the proper temperature and humidity. A humidifier is used in the winter to prevent drying out of the leather covers, whereas a dehumidifier is used in the summer to check mold growth.

Also, the leather and parchment covers are treated with a mixture of oils. Rebinding costs are funded by the Friends of the Juniata Library who also pay for the cataloging of the books.

Despite the age and previous regular use of the imprints, much of the collection is in good condition, said Eyman. Most of the books, which date back to the 1700's, have fragile pages and are stained by oils from the hands. Eyman attributes the high rag content of the paper to their remarkable preservation. He noted that the high acid content of today's paper is not as lasting. "We have some well preserved valuable material from the German-American experience," he added.

The study of the German influence in Pennsylvania, as represented in these rare imprints, is another important purpose of the collection. The variety of books, almanacs, pamphlets, and manuscripts are valuable sources of information for such topics as: Pennsylvania German culture, Pennsylvania history, Church of the Brethren history, and more.

Kay Rockwell of Huntingdon, volunteers her time to work with the collection. She said over 80 percent of the material is in German. This is due to the large influx of Germans into Pennsylvania during the colonial days.

There are a few books in the Treasure Room printed by Benjamin Franklin and William Bradford. Mrs. Rockwell notes that by 1803 there was a printer in Ebensburg who printed an English book in the collection on medicinal plants.

One of the first German printing presses in colonial America was owned by Christopher Sower in Germantown. He opened his print shop in 1739 and printed almanacs and newspapers. Sower printed the first complete German Bible in 1743, said Mrs. Rockwell.

She added that the first English Bible printed in colonial America didn't appear until 1780. This was because the majority of the people spoke German. Also, the English King monopolized the King James version so that those who printed it in this country would be punished.

Mrs. Rockwell said one of the most interesting books is a copy of Isaac Watts' Hymns and Spiritual Songs. A note written on the inside cover indicates that it was brought from Wales in 1743. The leather bound book was carried so much that it conforms to the shape of your hand when you hold it. She said it was probably used by a woman from Wales whose only reminder of home was this book.

One of the oldest books in the collection is a 1478 Swiss Bible printed in German. "The print and type is modeled upon the kinds of letters used in manuscripts in the monasteries," Mrs. Rockwell said. The capital letters are printed with 1½ inch square woodcuts. The wood stamps print a picture of exquisite detail with a capital letter inside. She emphasized the skill and time it must have taken to carve the blocks. Also in the collection is a hand written songbook. The letter style of the Swiss Bible and this manuscript are similar.

The rare book collection was started around 1900 when former college president Martin G. Brumbaugh gave a large collection of books from his valuable Abraham Cassell library. Juniata College does not purchase these books. All materials are donated by administrators, faculty members, alumni, and friends.

The Treasure Room is available to individuals by permission of the Director of Libraries. Supervision is required.

Bequest Affirms Support

Juniata has received a $127,500 bequest from the late Armond R. and Dr. Anne H. Nahrgang of Lewisburg, which will be applied to the Ross J. Nahrgang Memorial Scholarship Fund.

Long supporters of Juniata, Nahrgang was a retired electrical engineer at the time of his death in 1979. His wife, who predeceased him, was a retired medical doctor.

In announcing the bequest, President Frederick M. Binder noted that the scholarship was originally established by the Nahrgangs in 1978 to honor their late son, a 1958 Juniata graduate. Since that time, the Nahrgangs made several contributions to the scholarship fund.

Also instrumental in establishing the fund was the late Mary Horoschak of Huntingdon, Ross' aunt, who for 10 years was director of residence in Leshner Hall.

Ross Nahrgang received his B.S. degree in history and went on to obtain his master's degree from Boston College in 1962. At the time of his death in 1973, he was placement director for the Williamsport Area Community College, Williamsport, a post he held since 1968. Prior to that, he had been assistant director of student affairs at Glassboro State College in New Jersey.

"Scholarship support is one of the most important ways individuals aid higher education," Dr. Binder said. "This generous bequest is another example of this strong support. It serves as a fine memorial to Ross J. Nahrgang, and at the same time, helps Juniata students meet the costs of a college education."

Moller Organ Legacy

By BOB KEMPER '82

The Moller organ in Juniata's Oller Hall has been a source of pride and inspiration for the Juniata community, and a part of the Juniata tradition for over 40 years. Its restoration last spring has allowed alumni to reflect on the role the organ played in their lives.

Rev. Jack Rodland '61, minister of music at the West Side Presbyterian Church at Ridgewood, NJ, said, "I probably would not have come to Juniata had the organ not been as good as it was. . . The organ was a very important part of my work, and I was grateful for the instrument."

While a student of music at Juniata, Rev. Rodland played a recital annually in addition to his performances at thrice weekly chapel services and commencement oratorios. "We used the organ constantly," Rev. Rodland said, "We had a practice schedule printed right on the organ so we'd have our hours worked out when we could use the instrument. I remember going over (to Oller Hall) at 4:30 or five o'clock in the morning to get ready for a recital. . . so I could practice when it was quiet."

The Moller organ, according to Rev. Rodland, was of such high quality that it helped provide Juniata with the image of a leader in music within the Church of the Brethren.

Also impressed with the quality of the instrument was Marian Sue McElwee '61, of R.D. 3 Huntingdon. Miss McElwee, currently minister of music at the United Church of Christ, said, "I am happy that we had an organ of quality that could attract professional organists of the highest caliber, such as Dr. Marilyn Mason and Claire Coci to perform in recitals and teach master classes."

Some of the other prominent organists who have played Juniata's Moller organ include: Dr. Charles Courbin, a Belgian organist who at that time, was the organist at St. Patrick's Cathedral in New York; The late Virgil Fox, who was the head of the organ department at Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore; and Frederick Swann, the director of music and organist at the Riverside Church, and chairman of the organ department at the Manhattan School of Music. Swann gave a recital on Oct. 11, 1981 to commemorate the restoration of the organ.

Besides noting the organ's ability to attract professional calibre talent, Miss McElwee said, "The organ was an inspiration to me, and I appreciate its restoration."

Franklin E. Perkins '49, minister of music at the Ladue Chapel, St. Louis, Mo., said the organ made his days at Juniata thrilling, and recalls trying to outwit his music professor to gain additional time on the organ.

Said Perkins, "I consider myself extremely lucky to have had the Oller Hall organ to develop what has become my life's work. My most satisfying experiences have been the recitals I played there. Especially the ones I have done since graduating, when I have been invited back to perform."

The Moller organ was given to the school as a gift from Rello Oller '20 of Waynesboro, PA, in 1940. A former music major at Juniata, Miss Oller financed the purchasing and installation of the instrument. According to Dr. Harold B. Brumbaugh '33, vice president of college relations emeritus at Juniata, "Miss Oller is a long time loyal and devoted supporter of the college, and she has always had a supportive interest in music. The organ was a natural choice for a gift."

Plans to install the organ had begun as early as 1929 by former president Dr. M.G. Brumbaugh, who started sending out inquiries to organ companies. In 1939, a search for an organ was renewed by President Charles C. Ellis and his son Dr. Calvert N. Ellis. In 1940, under the consultation of Dr. Harold Gleason, the head of the organ department at Eastman School of Music, Rochester, NY, and Dr. Carl Weinrich, university organist at Princeton University, the M.P. Moller Organ Company, Inc. was selected to build the organ, and it was later installed in Oller Hall.

The organ remained in Oller for 41 years, until 1981 when it was dismantled piece by piece and returned to the Moller Company for refurbishing. The Moller Company releathered thousands of valves, installed new magnets, cleaned all of the piping, resoldered, rounded-up and revoiced the organ in its entirety, and then returned it for reinstallation last June at a cost of $79,120.

The restoration of the organ is a part of the Century II Campaign now being conducted at Juniata. Because of its relations with the church, the project of raising funds for the organ was designated to the Church of the Brethren. This is a special project for the church, according to Foster G. Ulrich, Jr., vice president of development at Juniata, because in the past, church support for the school has been largely in the form of scholarships and awards. To allow others to show their appreciation for the instrument, said Ulrich, the campaign may be extended to include past music majors and other persons affiliated with the organ. After almost a year, the campaign has gathered $10,500 from tax deductible gifts donated by the church constituency.

When the organ was first installed, the college organist was the late W. William Wagner '44, who at the time of his death in 1981, was music director of the Mt. Lebanon United Methodist Church, organist-choirmaster at Temple Sinai in Squirrel Hill, and director of the Bach Choir of Pittsburgh.

Donald S. Johnson, professor of music, emeritus, of 1822 Mifflin St., Huntingdon, came to the college in 1944. Dr. Johnson served the college as organist, professor of music and chairman of the music department until the time of his retirement in 1969. During his 27 years, Dr. Johnson performed in a recital annually in addition to playing for campus chapel services and at commencements.

In reference to the restoration and the playing of the Moller organ, Rev. Rodland, a student of Dr. Johnson, said, "This kind of work develops the spiritual part of you. This is soul food."

JUNIATA COLLEGE BULLETIN
VOLUME LXXX/Number 4

The JUNIATA COLLEGE BULLETIN is published five times per year (November, December, January, April and July). Second Class Postage paid at Huntingdon, PA 16652. Send Form 3579 to Juniata College, 17th and Moore Sts., Huntingdon, PA 16652.

The BULLETIN is designed and produced by the Offices of Public Relations and Alumni Affairs: David A. Gildea, College Editor; Robert C. Howden, Director of Public Relations; David A. Kreider '71, Director of Alumni Affairs; Catherine M. McMahon, Editorial Assistant.

Juniata College is an independent, privately supported, coeducational institution committed to providing a liberal arts education to qualified students regardless of sex, race, religion, creed, color or handicap. Its policies comply with the requirements of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Educational Amendments of 1972 and all other applicable federal, state and local statutes, regulations and guidelines.

Students take advantage of opportunities to play the forty-two year old Moller Organ. With restoration and ultimate reconstruction, the organ is once again a superb instrument that remains an important part of the heritage of Juniata College.

Kreider to Assume New Post

David A. Kreider '71, director of alumni affairs, will be assuming new responsibilities effective July 1. President Frederick M. Binder announced recently.

Kreider has been named director of annual and special gifts and will supervise Juniata's Annual Support Fund. He will also provide support for the development staff in the area of special gifts. In addition, the job involves visiting foundations and corporations on behalf of the college, and representing the college on The Foundations for Independent Colleges.

Kreider has been at Juniata since graduating, having served in a number of capacities including assistant director of development and sports information director. He has been director of alumni affairs for six years and will be relinquishing that responsibility upon the appointment of a successor.

Kreider is married to Gayle Wampler '68, Juniata's director of admissions. They reside at R.D. 2, Huntingdon.

Lititz Mutual, Stackpole-Hall Pledge Funds

Center Drive Tops $3 Million

Two major grants totaling $57,500 have recently been pledged to the Sports+Recreation Center project. The grants were made by the Lititz Mutual Insurance Co. of Lititz ($35,000) and The Stackpole-Hall Foundation of St. Marys ($22,500). Both organizations have long been supporters of Juniata College and its efforts to maintain the high standards of excellence set forth by the institution.

President Frederick M. Binder in expressing his appreciation for the grants said, "Juniata is very grateful to these two organizations whose philanthropic efforts on the college's behalf indicate strong support for the broad academic programs necessary to provide a rounded, quality education to Juniata students." Dr. Binder added that "mental and physical education must go hand-in-hand. A sound, scholarly based education is invaluable, but a strong and healthy physical constitution, as well, enhances that intellectual strength." He added, "through these contributions, these organizations not only recognize that fact, but support it."

From its beginning in 1888, the Lititz Mutual Insurance Company has become one of the 100 largest mutual insurance companies in the nation. Lititz's service extends to property owners and agents in 12 states. The company's executive vice president, secretary and director is Henry H. Gibbel '57.

The Stackpole-Hall Foundation was established in St. Marys in 1951 as a charitable trust. Since that time, it has functioned solely for the benefit of religious, charitable, scientific, literary and educational purposes.

The philanthropic mission of the organization was initiated in 1871 when, according to Foundation history, "the ancestors of the Stackpole and Hall families cast their lot in the logging and lumbering industry of northwestern Pennsylvania." The tradition continues as third and fourth generations actively engage in the management of the Stackpole Corporation, a corporate leader in the carbon/graphite and electronic components industry.

Juniata's Sports+Recreation Center, with a projected completion date of December 1982, is right on, if not ahead of schedule. With major structural work and exterior walls completed, it is now possible to visualize the completed Center.

As the construction work continues, so do the fund raising activities. President Frederick M. Binder recently announced that the college has reached the $3 million mark in the Sports+Recreation Center phase of the Century II Campaign.

"Since launching this campaign in September 1980, the response from alumni, faculty, students, corporations, foundations and businesses has been outstanding,"

As construction on the $4.5 million Sports+Recreation Center continues in the background, students examine the fund total board indicating the topping of the 3 million dollar mark.

Dr. Binder said. "Our Trustees alone have contributed more than $1.1 million," he added. "Their devotion, dedication and hard work on behalf of Juniata is very gratifying, and everyone at the college appreciates their generosity."

Dr. Binder also had praise for Juniata's alumni, who thus far have committed $818,000 to the center. "Under the leadership of Chuck Knox '54, our alumni have again rallied in support of continued excellence at Juniata." Knox, vice president and head coach of the Buffalo Bills, has been a leading force in the drive to raise funds for the new sports complex. "Chuck has done an outstanding job as alumni gifts chairman. His support has been a major factor in our success," Dr. Binder emphasized.

In addition to major funding from alumni and trustees, Dr. Binder said that foundations, corporations and businesses have contributed $671,000 to the Sports+Recreation Center. "These groups realize that higher education is a sound investment, and we are especially pleased that they have chosen to invest in Juniata College," Dr. Binder said. Pointing to the role the college plays in the local economy, the president expressed pleasure that so many area businesses have contributed to the sports complex.

"I am particularly pleased with the $129,000 pledged by Juniata's faculty, staff and students," Dr. Binder said. "This group has more than doubled its original goal of $50,000. Such dedication is a tribute to the college community."

Other funding sources for the center are bequests and other gifts ($95,000), friends of the college ($142,000) and parents of Juniata students ($21,000).

"The success of this campaign is a credit to the leadership of Edwin L. Kennedy, honorary chairman, and Henry H. Gibbel '57, general chairman," the president stated.

"These two men have given a great deal of time and energy to this fund raising effort, and are committed to maintaining Juniata's strong educational programs."

"Now that we are only $1.5 million away from achieving our goal and the $250,000 challenge grant from The Kresge Foundation, it is imperative that all of us work together to reach the $4.5 million mark by Dec. 15," the president said.

The new center is being annexed to the 30-year-old Memorial Gymnasium. The present gym is being renovated as part of the project in order to be assimilated into the architectural design of the new facility. The new complex will feature a six-lane, 25 meter swimming pool/natatorium; two station gymnasium; four racquetball/handball courts; a multi-purpose room; weight training room; sauna; locker rooms and office space.

"This structure is so much more than an edifice of concrete and steel," Dr. Binder said. "This facility is representative of Juniata College's very aggressive and very positive approach to the future."

"The total college experience is much more than the wealth of information that is learned in books or in the halls of academe," the president added. "We must be able to provide students with a total educational environment. Recreation and organized athletics are very real parts of the growth and enrichment process of higher education."

Dr. Binder again stressed the clear existence of the need for the Sports+Recreation Center. "Juniata currently offers 15 varsity athletic programs to students, six for women and nine for men. These programs, in addition to eight club sports for men and women, involve more than one-third of the students." The president concluded that approximately 80 percent of the student body participates in the intramural sports program on campus.

The middle portion of this decade will bring to institutions of higher education across the country many challenging, anxious periods. With the optimistic, aggressive approach initiated by Dr. Binder, the Board and all those associated with the college, and with the continued support of alumni and friends, Juniata College will maintain the high standards of excellence that have become the hallmark of this institution.

AROUND CAMPUS WITH FACULTY AND STAFF

■ DR. MEROLD WESTPHAL, J. Omar Good Visiting Distinguished Professor of Evangelical Christianity, has written several essays for the book Inflation, Poortalk and the Gospel, recently published by Judson Press, and described as a book for difficult, belt-tightening times. Dr. Westphal's essays deal with social justice and materialism in the context of biblical faith.

■ DR. JANET B. PHILLIPS, assistant professor of education, was a member of the professional panel which discussed "Public Law 94-142 and Preparation Programs" at the 10th annual Teacher Education Conference in Harrisburg.

■ DR. EARL C. KAYLOR, JR. '46, professor of religion and history and history department chairman, has been commissioned to write a chapter on the Brethren for a forthcoming book on religion in Pennsylvania. Dr. Kaylor also served as a member of the Pennsylvania Department of Education team that visited Clarion State College in December for a major review of its teacher education program.

■ A salt-glazed bottle made by JACK G. TROY, part-time assistant professor of art, received a Juror's Special Award at the Sculpture and Crafts Exhibit at the Butler Institute of American Art, Youngstown, Ohio. The exhibit was held in January.

Troy also had eight wood-fired pots on exhibit at the Azuma Gallery in New York City, and has been awarded four $4,000 Craft Fellowships by the Pennsylvania Council on the Arts. Troy plans to use the funds to study the effect of native hardwoods and softwoods used as fuel in the anagama kiln, where he will fire pots made from local clays.

■ PRESIDENT BINDER recently returned from Florida where he conducted the Florida alumni campaign for the Sports+Recreation Center phase of the Century II Campaign. Dr. Binder was accompanied on the trip by DAVID A. KREIDER '71, director of alumni affairs.

■ IBROOK TOWER, assistant professor of music, served as guest conductor at the Huntingdon County Band Festival held March 11-13. The main concert featured the premiere of a new march "Our President," written by Tower and former Juniata professor TURNER JONES in honor of the president of Auburn University.

■ President Reagan's proposed cuts in aid to higher education were the focus of a statewide lobbying day in Washington, D.C. sponsored by the Pennsylvania Association of Colleges and Universities (PACU). More than 150 Pennsylvania college administrators participated in the lobbying activities on Capitol Hill which included meetings with Senators Heinz and Specter. Representing PRESIDENT BINDER and Juniata were KATHRYN MILLER, assistant director of development, and ROBERT HOWDEN, director of public relations.

■ Trace Elements, Analytical Chemistry in Medicine and Biology is the title of the book recently reviewed by DR. EI-ICHIRO OCHIALI, associate professor of chemistry. The review was published in "Origins of Life."

■ DR. CORNELIS J. FAJTERS, professor of linguistics and French, is spending the spring term at the Catholic University of Lille, France, where he is teaching English to engineering students. In exchange, NOELLE DERGRUSON from Lille is teaching French at Juniata this spring.

■ DR. KIM RICHARDSON, instructor in education and WILLIAM HOFELT, assistant professor of English, recently served on Major Review Committees evaluating St. Francis College in Loretto. Dr. Richardson was a member of the elementary education certification team while Hofelt chaired the English team.

■ DR. CRAIG BAXTER, visiting professor of political science and diplomat-in-residence for the 1981-82 academic year, has accepted a permanent position on the faculty. Dr. Baxter's title is professor of politics and history.

■ Four months before Martin Luther published his famous catechism, Juan de Valdes, one of the most important religious and intellectual figures of 16th century Spain, published his "Dialogue on Christian Doctrine." This catechism has now been edited in English by DR. JOSE C. NIETO, professor of religion and department chairman. Dr. Nieto said that his new book, Valdes' Two Catechisms: The Dialogue on Christian Doctrine and the Christian Instruction for Children, is an important contribution to religious studies because it is the first time that the "Dialogue on Christian Doctrine" has been translated into any language.

AROUND CAMPUS WITH STUDENTS

■ The 1982 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges will carry the names of 27 Juniata students, who have been selected as being among the country's most outstanding student leaders. The seniors named are: RUSSELL E. CAMERON of Ebensburg, ANNE MARIE SUBOSKY of Levittown, ERIC J. FUHRMANN of Ebensburg, DAVID A. FULTON of Wayne, JOAN GOSNELL of New Cumberland, DEBORA L. HADDEN of Sparta, N.J., BARBARA J. HEIM of Lewisburg, TERRY HEFFNER of Huntingdon, DANIEL M. JENDRZEJEWSKI of Natrona, ANDREW B. JONES of Silver Spring, Md., ROBERT J. KEMPER of Kulpmont and CONSTANCE L. KILROY of Huntsville, Ala.

Also: SARAH J. NELLING of Chambersburg, BARBARA A. PEARSON of Malvern, CYNTHIA J. ROHM of Sunbury, JOHN SEYMOUR of Ebensburg, KEVIN M. SHOWVAKER of Littleton, BRUCE SICKEL of Trevoise, DANA S. TAYLOR of New Providence, N.J., MARGOT WAITZ of Philadelphia, KELLY J. WALASIK of Alliquippa, REGINA K. WOOD of Honesdale and MARY C. YANKASKAS of Millington, N.J.

Four juniors were also named. They are: ELLEN F. FASNACHT of Cresson, JAYNE P. LAMPENFELD of Dysart, CHARLES E. YOHAN of Elgin, Ill. and JANET T. ZUNA of Steepleton.

■ Three Juniata students represented the college at the National Day of Action rally in Washington, D.C. in March. The rally, which drew thousands of students from across the country, was sponsored by the National Student Association to protest proposed cuts in federal aid to higher education. The three Juniata students attending were A. KEITH FOX '83 of Hagerstown, Md., CAROLYN L. CLEARY '85 of King of Prussia and DON A. DEARMITT '82 of Skoytown.

■ Three Juniata students were chosen to participate in the annual Inter-Collegiate Band Festival sponsored by the Pennsylvania Bandmasters Association. The festival, held March 12-13 at Bloomsburg State College, consisted of Pennsylvania college and university bands. Representing Juniata were: JOHN FARRUGIA '83 of Commack, N.Y., RICHARD W. MROSKY '85 of Armagh and DANIEL S. WEYANDT '84 of Duncansville.

AND VISITORS, TOO

■ JAMES DONLON, internationally recognized performer and teacher, and one of the most versatile young artists in mime today, spent the week of March 21-27 in residence at Juniata. The program was sponsored by Reader's Digest Association.

While at Juniata, Donlon presented several "informances" (informal performances) around campus and in town, and held a formal, public performance in Oller Hall which was very well received.

■ March and April were busy months for the Juniata College Artist Series. On March 11, ROBERT GURALNIK and SANDRA JENNINGS appeared as BRAHMS AND CLARA. That was followed on March 21 by a presentation of the Sigmund Romberg, Oscar Hammerstein musical THE DESERT SONG, an old favorite from the Broadway stage.

April 1 brought the BAROQUE CON-SORT to the Oller Hall stage, and on April 22, pianist JOAQUIN ACHUCARRO performed, bringing the 1981-82 Artist Series to a successful conclusion.

■ Australian-born artist ANN CRUMBLEY exhibited her watercolors in Shoemaker Galleries during March. This wonderful exhibit included landscapes and abstracts. Ms. Crumbley has exhibited her work throughout the U.S. and Europe, and is represented in private and public collections in Canada, Australia, and several European countries.

A near capacity crowd was on-hand in Oller Auditorium on March 21 to see the Artist Series presentation of the Sigmund Romberg/Oscar Hammerstein classic The Desert Song.

A Confession and A Resolve

Editor's Note—The following article was written by Dr. Gene E. Sease '52, president of Indiana Central University, and appeared in the fall issue of the University's Alumni News.

Despite my constant encouragement to Indiana Central University Alumni to regularly come back to visit the campus, I have not practiced what I have preached! Except for a hurried "drive-thru" visit some years ago, I made my first casual return to my undergraduate alma mater a few days ago—29 years following graduation.

I have excused myself from an earlier return for numerous reasons: Juniata College is located over 500 miles from Indianapolis; the small town of Huntingdon, Pennsylvania, is off the beaten path of my usual trips through Pennsylvania; and Alumni Day there is usually the same day as at ICU. I received the distinguished alumni award there in 1976 in absentia because of this conflict. These reasons are really excuses, though; if I had really wanted to get back earlier, I doubtless could have done it!

What an emotional experience! I regularly read the Alumni Bulletin from there and have been an annual contributor and interested alum, but I understand now how many ICU grads feel after a long absence from the campus. The dormitory I lived in was gone, a victim of the wrecker's ball! I can understand why—it was a quickly constructed G.I. barracks hurriedly built immediately after World War II to accommodate the large influx of students, but to 86 of us each year, Sherwood Lodge was home. The flimsy wood and plasterboard construction has been replaced with a beautiful red brick building—not nearly so "homey" but much more imposing in appearance.

The old library is now an arts center and a new one has been built. How much I wish the new one had been there when I was a student—I could probably have studied easier in an area more conducive to study and far less crowded. A new science building, a new physical education building, remodeled humanities complex, and other impressive facilities were leisurely toured. Stopping to visit with staff members, faculty, secretaries, and others, I missed old familiar faces but sensed that many of the strengths, interests, and traditions of my student days continue to be carried on by that institution. I stopped by to visit some of my classmates who still reside in the college community and was greeted by mixed reactions to all that is happening on campus.

I learned some helpful lessons for ICU, among them that returning alumni can be disoriented. Wanting to visit the Alumni Office which I couldn't find and which had been moved, I asked a maintenance employee where I could find it. Following directions to the building he pointed out, I found myself at the Admissions Office, while the Alumni Office was across campus. We do a poor job on campuses of carefully marking buildings—either for returning alumni or for first-time campus visitors. Another important observation I made was that visitors expect each receptionist, secretary, or staff member to be friendly and receptive to questions and interruptions, no matter what they might be involved in at the moment. Hope I can practice that—and persuade all our ICU folks to do the same.

Most of all, I learned that I have been the loser by not keeping the lines stronger between my alma mater and me. They have tried! They have honored me, written me regularly, sent news of the campus often, but I have not been mutually responsive. This has been my loss. I resolve to improve and am making plans for my 30th Class Reunion in 1982. I know how much the campus has changed—now I want to see how much my classmates have changed—everybody but me, that is!

Match Your Gift!

An easy way to help Juniata is to take advantage of corporate America's matching gift program. More than 850 companies will match gifts made by their employees, directors and retired staff to the educational institutions of their choice.

Those who work for one of these generous firms, their divisions, subsidiaries, or affiliated companies, can increase the value of their own gift to Juniata. This matching gift program began in the early 1950's with only a few charter corporations participating. Now, this year, the 850 participating companies will match 250,000 gifts worth $35,000,000 to the educational institutions on the receiving end of the "match."

Juniata has received its share of these gifts too, thanks to the extra step taken by alumni and friends. In 1980-81 the College received nearly four percent of its total cash in matching gifts monies reaching a record $41,000.

Anything so helpful must be complicated. Right? Wrong! Simply obtain a form from the company's matching gifts coordinator (usually located in the personnel or community relations department) and send it along with your gift to Juniata. It's as easy as it sounds, so take advantage of your company's matching gift program. Think of it as a benefit offered by the employer that otherwise might not be received.

Now is the time to join corporate America in a partnership in support of higher education at Juniata. Such efforts will be appreciated by Juniata.

Space does not permit the listing of all 850 matching gift companies, but, worth special note are the 107 companies now matching gifts on a scale greater than one-to-one.

M. E. Baker Makes Bequest

Juniata has received a $55,000 bequest from the late Margaret E. Baker '15, of Everett, to be applied to three funds established at the college.

Miss Baker was a strong supporter of Juniata, and in keeping with her past generosity, willed $15,000 each to the Jennie C. and Francis Baker Scholarship and the Helen Baker Library Fund.

Named for her parents, the Baker scholarship assists worthy Juniata students with preference to Bedford County residents. The library fund, named for her sister, is used to purchase books and materials for the college libraries.

In addition, Miss Baker designated $25,000 to be used to establish the Margaret E. Baker Peace Fund, which will be used to support a professor or carry on activity emphasizing the need for world peace.

After graduating from Juniata, Miss Baker did graduate work at Haverford College and Columbia University. She taught high school in Augusta, Ga., Martinsburg, W. Va. and Cumberland, Md.

After retiring to Everett, Miss Baker became very active in the Everett Free Library which her mother helped organize in 1923. She served as a volunteer librarian, president of the Board of Trustees from 1961-66, and was an active Board member until her death on March 7, 1980.

On Sept. 23, 1973, following a week of special celebrations, the people of Everett held "Margaret Baker Day." An open house at the library marked the facility's 50th anniversary and Miss Baker's retirement as librarian.

Miss Baker was also an active member of the Everett Church of the Brethren, the Bedford County Garden Club and the Everett Women's Club. She was a charter member of the Bedford County Historical Society.

"During her lifetime, Margaret Baker's generosity touched many people at Juniata," said President Frederick M. Binder. "Through this bequest, she has again demonstrated her commitment to the education of young adults, and to the future growth and prosperity of Juniata College."

Miss Baker is survived by a brother and sister, Dr. John C. Baker '17, of Essex Falls, N.J. and Mrs. Dorothy B. Johnson '17, of Everett. Dr. Baker currently serves on the college's Board of Trustees, which he chaired from 1963-76.

Winter Sports Review

MEN'S BASKETBALL (10-13)

First year head coach Dan Helm's Indian cagers completed their season with a 10-13 overall mark, and an 8-13 varsity record.

During the last week of the season, the Tribe fell to Shippensburg, and Wilkes, while defeating Penn State-Capitol. Center Mark Rucinski (Olean, NY; Archbishop Walsh) led the team in scoring and rebounding for all three of the games.

For the season, Rucinski, a sophomore, led the team in scoring and rebounding. He averaged 13.2 points and 9.2 rebounds per game. He also led the team in field-goal percentage, hitting on .555 of his field goal attempts. During the Ursinus game, Rucinski grabbed 22 rebounds which was the most by an Indian in a single game this year.

Sophomore guard Dan Feruck (Pennsville, NJ) was the team's second leading scorer, with an 11.1 points per game average. Feruck scored an individual high of 28 points against Cabrini. This was the highest point total in a single game by a Juniata player. Feruck also led the team in free throw percentage with a .804 mark, (37-46).

Four-year letterman Joe Chuba (Johnstown; Richland) put in 9.5 points per game during his last year as an Indian. Chuba, one of the Tribe's most consistent players over the last four years, was second in re-bounding with 6.2 boards per game, and second in assists with 56 on the year.

Junior guard Lee Hudzicki (Indiana) led the team in assists with 86, while contributing 7.2 points per game. Paul Kardish (Churchville; Holy Ghost Prep) averaged 2.5 points per game while coming off the bench as the third guard.

John West (Carlisle) contributed significantly during his first year as an Indian. He scored 8.1 points per game, while pulling down 4.9 rebounds per game. Junior Andy Witmer (Ephrata; Cocalico), who shared starting duties with West, averaged 6.6 points and 3.8 rebounds per game.

In addition to Chuba, there were three other seniors on the team: Bob Bruzga (DuBois; Central Christian), Scott Lehigh (Hanover) and Dan Roberts (Ebensburg; Central Cambria). Bruzga and Lehigh saw action off the bench, averaging 2.2 and 1.6 points respectively.

As a team, the Indians out-shot their opponents .471 to .447 and out rebounded them 702 to 668. The Tribe averaged 64.1 points each game, while opponents did slightly better, averaging 64.9. The Indians lost five of their games by three points or less. These were against Albright, Delaware Valley, Kings, York, and Shippensburg.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL (6-13)

The Juniata women cagers ended their 1981-82 season with a disappointing 6-13 record.

During the last two weeks of the season, the Indians dropped contests to Messiah, Wilkes, and Shippensburg, while defeating Dickinson, and St. Francis. In the MAC-Northwest Section, the Indians were 1-3, failing to make the playoffs for the second year in a row.

Leading the team in scoring this year was freshman Patty Ryan (Philadelphia; Little Flower). The 5-8 forward averaged 11.8 points per game for the 19 game season. Ryan also led the team in field goals and free throws made. Her rebounding average of 7.6 was the team's second highest, as was her assist total of 24.

Junior guard Aimee Brua (Holidaysburg) was second in scoring average with 9.7 per game. Unfortunately, she was injured midway through the season, and did not play in the last 10 games. None-the-less, she still tied for the team lead in assists and had the season's individual scoring high of 23 points in the Scranton game.

Another junior, Ellen Fasnacht (Cresson; Bishop Carroll) was third in scoring with 8.8 points per game.

Marie Glendenning (Malvern; W.C. East) was the team's leading rebounder pulling 8.0 boards per game. The Indian's strong rebounding corp also included Meg Stover (Petersburg, VA, 6.3 rebounds) and Missy Luciano (Altoona, 6.1 rebounds). Stover and Glendenning each has 21 rebounds in a single game this year.

Junior guard Nancy Roach (Johnstown; Bishop McCort) performed well in her role as one of the Indian's top defensive players. She averaged 7.1 points per game and led the team in steals. Senior guard Terri Eckenrode (Alexandria; Juniata Valley) finished out her last season with a 5.7 point per game average and 26 assists to tie Brua for the team lead. Eckenrode played particularly well during the second half of the season. Freshman Holly Crable (Landenburg; Avon Grove) saw increased action after Brua's injury, and she responded by averaging 5.4 points per game.

As a team, the Indians shot only .360 from the field and .549 from the free throw line. The Indians were out-rebounded by one rebound per game. The opponents outscored the Indians 63.3 to 61.5 points per game.

The Indians will only lose two players from this year's squad: Eckenrode and Cindy Hickie (Hunker; Hempfield). With four out of the top five scorers as underclassmen, the prospects for next year's team look very bright.

WRESTLING (7-6)

The wrestling team ended its season with a tie for 10th place in the Middle Atlantic Conference tournament and ended its regular season with a record of 7-6.

Seven Indian grapplers took part in the MAC tournament. Freshman Al Kreuzburg (Brookville, MD; Sherwood) competed in the 118 pound division and was eliminated by a tough Giovanetti of Widener. Another freshman, Rick Noll (Nazareth) was eliminated in the 134 pound division by Mike Olshetski from Kings.

Tom Swavely (Royerford, Spring Ford) ended his wrestling career with a 10-7 record this year. Swavely started the tournament by quickly pinning his 158 pound opponent in 1:41. He eventually lost in the consolation match. Chris Young (Mohnton, Governor Mifflin) wrestling at 167, won two impressive decisions before an injury kept him from advancing further.

Juniata's successes came in the higher weight classes. At 177 pounds, Rich Schuck (Selinsgrove) finished with a 2-2 showing at the tourney. His victories came with a 1:24 pinning of Larry Van Weiss of Muhlenberg and a 14-3 decision over D. Jenkins of Scranton. Another senior, Dan Jendrzewski (Natrona; Highlands) took fifth place in the tourney by defeating four of six opponents he faced in the heavyweight division.

The most impressive performance was by Keith Sherbine (Portage) wrestling at 190 pounds. Sherbine captured second place in the tournament. His victories were an 8-0 decision to Brian Collins of Widener, a 3-1 decision to Jim Stafford of Gettysburg, and an 8-6 decision to Maurer of Lycoming. Sherbine was the only Indian grappler to advance to the Nationals held at Cortland State. At the Nationals, he was 1-2.

Coach Bill Berrier '60 thought that injuries to key people hurt the Indians' chances for a better showing. Looking to the future, the Indians will lose three wrestlers to graduation: Chris Kretschmar (Towaco, NJ), Swavely and Jendrzewski. However, Berrier feels that the nucleus for another winning season is still there.

Mark Amatucci '74, currently head coach of the top ranked high school basketball team in the country, was recently recognized in an article in Sports Illustrated (Feb. 8, 1982).

Amatucci's team, the Calvert Hall College High School Cardinals from the Baltimore area, a team Amatucci played for while attending Calvert Hall, was ranked number one by Basketball Weekly "and just about every other publication that keeps track of such things" when his team went undefeated after 21 games.

Although Amatucci played varsity baseball and basketball while at Calvert Hall, his varsity career at Juniata was centered on baseball. A starting pitcher for four years, Amatucci left Juniata with a winning record and four letters.

William Berrier '60, athletic director and head baseball coach at Juniata, who coached Amatucci, said, "Although Mark didn't play varsity basketball he very well could have, and he would have done well. He had outstanding natural ability, and worked very hard at improving himself. He just didn't feel he could play both baseball and basketball because he would have had to dedicate himself to varsity athletics eight out of the nine academic months. He proved his ability, however, when he led the intramural basketball league in scoring."

When Amatucci took over at Calvert Hall in 1976, the Cardinals had been 9-16 the two previous seasons. According to Franz Lidz of Sports Illustrated, "Amatucci is an amiable psychology teacher who seems convinced that he can sway players to his point of view by rational discussion, by facts, by the self-evident. He doesn't rant and shout. He built the Cardinals."

Cheerleading Award Set

An annual award to honor an outstanding cheerleader at Juniata has been established as a memorial to the late Jill Muir Klingler '60 of Cambridge Springs.

The award, which will be presented each year at Juniata's Spring Convocation, has been made possible through memorial contributions to the college from Mrs. Klingler's husband, Robert, daughter, Julie, and other friends.

"The Jill Muir Klingler Memorial Award joins several other awards at Juniata that recognize the special talents of our outstanding athletes," said President Frederick M. Binder. "It is a fine tribute to a woman who, herself, was an outstanding cheerleader while at Juniata."

Selection of the award recipients will be made each year by William F. Berrier '60, Juniata's athletic director and a classmate of Jill Muir Klingler.

Huntingdon native Jay A. Hazlett, a 1904 Juniata College graduate and oldest living college athlete, was honored recently on the occasion of his 91st birthday (Saturday, April 10). Hazlett, who was a member of Juniata's track and tennis teams, is shown here receiving a Juniata College necktie from David A. Kreider, Director of Alumni Affairs. A retired clothing retailer, Hazlett has spent most of his life in Huntingdon, and was a member of the Union National Bank and Trust Company Board of Directors for 19 years.

OFFICE OF THE PRESIDENT

An Open Letter to Alumni and Friends:

Current and future Juniata students could be facing some very difficult times. President Reagan's proposed 1983-84 budget cuts affecting American students seeking a postsecondary education, if passed by Congress, will devastate the financial structure of many colleges and universities in America. Some will not survive.

The sweeping and massive changes proposed by the administration cannot be absorbed by a college or university in one academic year--which essentially is the notice we are being given.

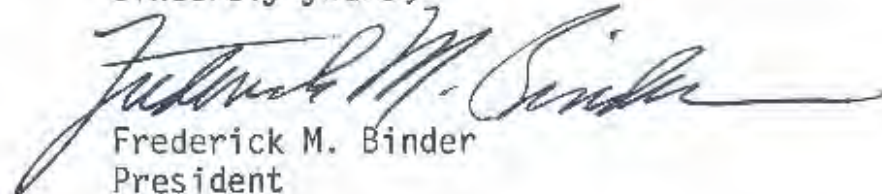

This is what the President is requesting: a 40.3% reduction in Pell Grants (Basic Education Opportunity Grants); a 27.6% reduction in College Work Study; and 100% reductions in Supplemental Education Opportunity Grants, National Direct Student Loans, State Student Incentive Grants and Guaranteed Student Loans.

Certainly if national priorities are established, one of the first should be to preserve our pool of well-educated young men and women. It is to them we will look to maintain our pre-eminence in scientific research, technology and humanistic thought.

I ask that each of you write to your Congressman and Senators as soon as possible and express your opposition to further cuts in federal aid to higher education. You also may register your concern with the White House by calling 202-456-7639.

If you would like some specific details on how these proposed cuts would affect Juniata, please contact my office. The entire Juniata community appreciates your support.

Sincerely yours,

Frederick M. Binder
President

Director of Alumni Affairs

Class Reunions are on the horizon and if your class ends in "2" and "Z" you should plan to join with your classmates and other friends the weekend of June 4-6. It is not too late to make your reservations and you can easily do so by writing to, or calling, the Alumni Office at the College. Note the tentative schedule of weekend activities on page 11.

One of the most popular features of any Reunion Weekend is the Annual Alumni Luncheon. This is a great meeting place to sit and have lunch with your closest college friends and "catch up" on the years gone by. One of the particular highlights of this mid-day activity is the presentation of the Alumni Service and Alumni Achievement Awards. This year they will be presented, respectively, to Mrs. Edith Hartman Cutrell '27 and Dr. John D. Howe '32.

Individual class reunion dinners are scheduled to begin at 5:30 p.m. at a variety of locations. All dinners will conclude in ample time for reunion alumni to participate in the evening performance in Otter Hall.

Since the January issue of the Bulletin, six alumni club functions have been conducted from Florida to Northern New Jersey. A successful Florida Club meeting was held in Sebring at the Church of the Brethren with J. Ross Schmidt '33 serving as president. Harold B. Brumbaugh '33 was the program with 100 alumni and friends on hand for his presentation. The Northern New Jersey Club met at the Westside Presbyterian Church for a combined Bell Choir performance. The Bell Choirs belonged to retiring club president, Carol Stiffler Coughenour '60 (husband, Donald '59) and Jack R. Rodland '61, the newly elected president of the club. Other programs included Dr. J. Peter Trexler, professor of geology, at South Jersey with Joan C. Van Note '66 as the president.

The Central Pennsylvania Alumni Club with Dr. Bradley E. Nicholas '56 serving as president, offered alumni a real treat by having Professor George T. Dolnikowski '56 and winning volleyball coach Larry Bock, as well as four of his star players (all from the York area), as a dual program. An added feature of this program was the appearance of the Juniata singing duet of Debbie Hadden '82 and Craig Allen Gruesel '82, who appeared at the fall dinner meeting.

Rob Ash, completing his second year as head football coach, was the featured speaker at the Pittsburgh/Southwest Pennsylvania alumni dinner. Shirley (Hoover) '66 and David M. Hercules '54 served as the club presidents. A great turnout of young alumni highlighted this function.

The Kishacoquillas Alumni Club, under the leadership of Donald J. Wills '77, met the end of April with President Frederick M. Binder as the program. Dr. Binder gave a comprehensive overview of the College, noting that in 1982-83 Juniata would be evaluated by the Middle States Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This occurs once every 10 years.

Keep looking for an alumni club invitation in your area.

Alumni Expressions In Clay

Five former Juniata College students recently returned to campus to take part in a ceramics exhibit held in Shoemaker Galleries. The five were students of the art while at J.C. and continue to produce and develop their individual motif.

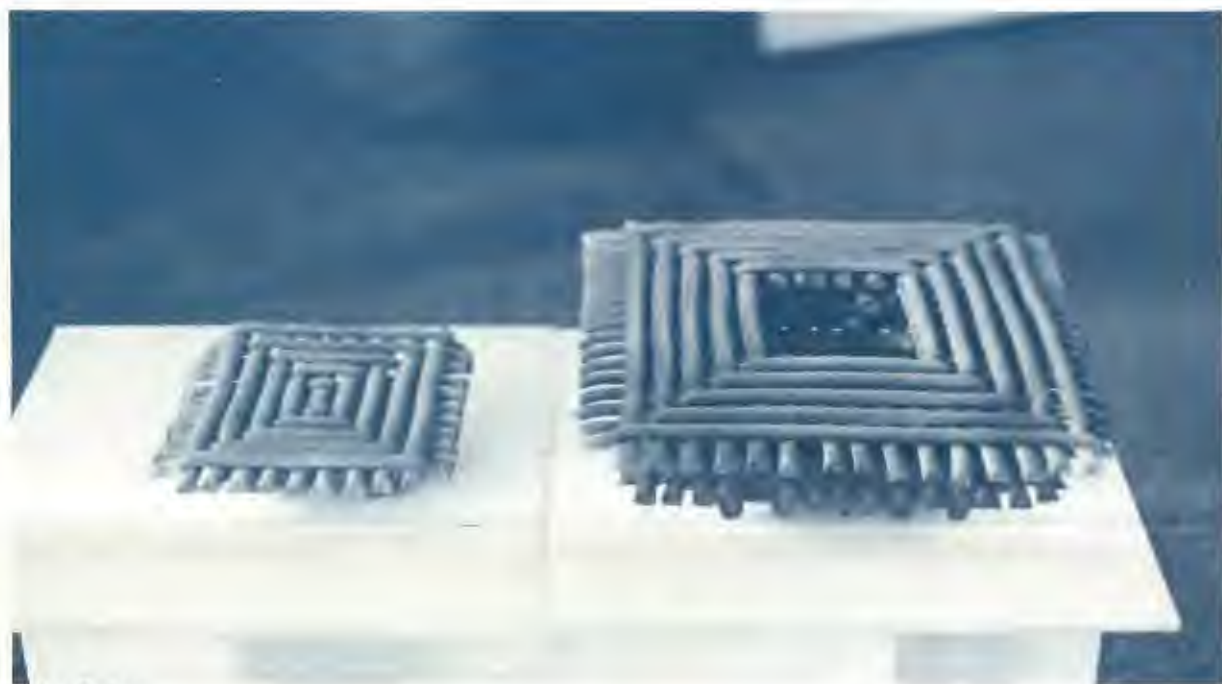

The artists supplemented the exhibition of from 12 to 15 examples of their art by presenting slide shows dealing with their lives and how their creative expression fits into their daily existence.

Those participating in the show were: John Baker (attended 1970-71), ceramics teacher at West Chester State College; James Charonko (class of 1975), a potter and artist from East Freedom; Michael Emenheiser (class of 1974), a chemical lab technician from Waynesboro; Michael Holter (class of 1973), a librarian from Walkersville, MD; and Loanne Snively (class of 1972), reference librarian at Bucknell University.

According to art professor Jack Troy, "This exhibit is particularly interesting because these five artists lead very diverse lives, but have maintained an active interest in ceramics." Below are but a few examples of the artists' work. Photographs, however, do not do justice to the craftsmanship exhibited in this show.

Internationally recognized professional mime James Donlon performed in various locations on the Juniata College campus and community as part of the Artist-In-Residence Program. The program extending from March 21-27, was sponsored by the Readers Digest Association.

When Juniata reached the $3 million mark in the Sports + Recreation Center phase of the Century II Campaign, the good news spread fast. President Frederick M. Binder is seen here being interviewed by Barbara Allen, news reporter/anchor with WTAJ-TV in Altoona.
